Probers Summon Van Doren

Instructor at Columbia U. Can't Be Found

Resumption of TV Quiz Show Probe Scheduled Nov. 2

WASHINGTON (AP) — Big money winner Charles Van Doren is billed for a command appearance when the congressional probe of television quiz shows resume Nov. 2.

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark), chairman of the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee, on Monday accused Van Doren of deliberately evading service of the subpoena.

Harris said Van Doren "seems to have challenged the committee and the facts which have been developed."

Investigation Recesses

The investigation recessed Monday after six days of testimony about rigging of big - name television quiz contests by providing advance questions and answers to contestants.

Harris said a diligent search had been made by committee staff members and others for Van Doren, who won fame and $129,000 by knowing the right answers at the right time on the now defunct "Twenty-One" quiz show.

Van Doren became a $50,000-a-year National Broadcasting Co. employe after his fabulous winnings on the NBC program in 1956 and 1957.

The subcommittee previously had "invited" Van Doren to testify. But it received no reply to the invitation extended after he had volunteered to make himself available.

Suspended From Job

Between the time of the invitation and the subpoena, NBC suspended Van Doren from his job—including appearances on the "Today" show—pending determination of the House inquiry. Columbia University has given him a week's leave from his teaching duties.

Harris referred to what he called Van Doren's "challenging" offer of last Wednesday to testify voluntarily and of the committee's invitation to Van Doren to appear Thursday or Friday at his own convenience.

In his offer to testify, Harris said, Van Doren stated he had received no advance assistance in any from on "Twenty-One."

Van Doren's name was not officially linked to scandals in public testimony, although committee members said his name cropped up frequently in closed-door testimony by producers and others connected with the "Twenty-One" show. The nature of the closed-door testimony has not been revealed.

Poland Leads In Vote on UN Council Seat

Western Maneuver May Have Blocked Communist Move

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —A U.N. Assembly deadlock over the rival candidacies of Poland and Turkey for the Security Council went into its second round today. But Turkey's Western backers hoped they had blocked the Communist candidate by a parliamentary maneuver.

As a result of the maneuver, voting for the Security Council seat was suspended until today after 13 inconclusive ballots. The Assembly then filled six seats on the Economic and Social Council, for one of which Poland was an unopposed candidate.

Western diplomats hoped election of Poland to ECOSOC would knock her out of the Security Council race because of considerable feeling in the Assembly that a small country should not hold a seat on more than one major council at a time.

Poland Leads Turkey

In the voting for the Security Council seat that Japan gives up Jan. 1, Poland led the U.S.-backed Turks on all the first 13 ballots but failed to get the two-thirds majority necessary for election.

The vote on the final ballot was 46-34. Poland's highest total was 48 votes on the seventh ballot, six short of a win. Turkey's high score was 38, or 16 short.

After the 13th ballot, Argentina proposed that the Assembly halt the Security Council vote and take up the elections for the Economic and Social Council. Spotting the purpose of this, the Soviet Union attempted to hold up the ECOSOC votes, but was defeated 34-22 with 25 nations abstaining.

The United States has contended ever since Poland became a candidate for the two councils that she should not hold both seats at once and supported her for ECOSOC. Because of the strong American backing for the Turks, the Poles' showing in the Security Council race constituted a threat to American prestige.

Had Soviet Bloc Support

In the secret balloting the Poles had the support of the nine-nation Soviet bloc, Yugoslavia, India and a number of other Asian or African nations, and almost half of the Latin-American bloc.

It was the second time a U.S.-

Mercury Flight Plan Revealed

4½-Hour Trip Set for Manned Satellite

LANGLEY, Va. (AP) — The flight plan for the first Mercury manned satellite was made public at this space capital today.

It calls for the Mercury capsule to zoom three times around the earth at an altitude of 100 miles and land in the Atlantic off the Bahama Islands not far from the Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching site. The whole trip would take 4½ hours.

Hurtling along at 18,000 miles an hour most of the way, the satellite would cross South Africa, Australia and a narrow southern strip of the United States.

As outlined here at the research center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and confirmed by one of the seven Mercury astronauts, the detailed flight plan is this:

1. A launching slightly north of east from Cape Canaveral.

2. An initial orbit — First encirclement of the earth — that would cross the North Atlantic, the Canary Islands, Spanish West Africa and Algeria, the main part of Africa just north of Lake Chad and Lake Victoria, Kenya, Australia south of Perth in the west and south of Brisbane in the east, Fiji Islands, Samoa, southern tip of Baja California, Northern Mexico, Texas south of Austin and north of Houston, north of New Orleans and leaving the U.S. East Coast south of Charleston, S.C.

3. Second orbit—crossing Bermuda and swinging southward across Nigeria, Mozambique and

Beloit Council to Protest Blocking Of Grade Crossing

BELOIT — A letter protesting the lowering of the guard gates at the railroad grade crossing here when the switch engine is working nearly a mile away was ordered sent to the Pennsylvania railroad company Monday night when Beloit Village Council met.

Clerk Glenn Turner is to send the message to the railroad's division headquarters in Pittsburgh to see if it is necessary for the gates to block auto traffic in Beloit while the switching crew is working in the 12th St. Sebring area.

Village councilmen also heard news that will both save and cost the residents of the village more money.

Mayor Robert Mellott read a letter from the Ohio Inspection Bureau which announced a decrease in the fire insurance rates because of the acquisition of the new fire truck and the fire alarm system. The Bureau said the revised rate soon would be announced.

A new contract between the village and Ohio Fuel & Gas Co. which provides for "small" increases in rates during the next four years was read by Clerk Turner.

In other action, the Beloit Council approved the widening and resurfacing of Church St. and the streets committee agreed to cut down dead trees on the village right-of-way beside the roads. The committee also approved the trimming of a tree which is overhanging a roof of a private residence.

Sweeping Economic Plan Presented By GOP Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican study committee today presented a sweeping plan envisioning a gross national product of 900 billion dollars a year by 1967.

It recommended a manufacturer's sales tax and reduction of individual and corporate income taxes.

The tax cuts would come only after a start is made toward reducing the huge federal debt, and would be modest at first. They would be applied "as rapidly over the next few years as the prospective surplus will permit."

For the long run, the committee proposed substantially reduced taxes and more equitable distribution of the tax burden.

The 10,000-word report on "Economic Opportunity and Progress" was the fifth and final document approved by a 40-member committee headed by Charles H. Percy, Chicago businessman. The group was named to outline long-range GOP goals.

The final report was drawn up by a 14-member group headed by Gabriel Hauge, former economic assistant to President Eisenhower and now a New York financier.

Other reports dealt with science, national security and peace, and human rights and needs.

The economic report said sensible management of the public debt, combined with tax reform, an effective monetary policy and strict control over federal expenditures "will do much to help maintain a dependable currency and a steady rate of economic progress."

USW Warns Of Strike Resumption

McDonald Says Union Won't Be Beaten

Will Obey Injunction, Resume Strike After 80 Days, He Asserts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The head of the Steelworkers Union says the paramount issue in the 91-day steel strike "is whether the companies will break the union—but the union will not be beaten."

Union chief David J. McDonald made the statement Monday to the fact-finding board named by President Eisenhower under the Taft-Hartley law strike procedure.

The board is to report to the President Friday. Then Eisenhower will decide whether to ask for a court injunction that would halt the strike for an 80-day cooling off period.

The fact-finders are trying to work out a settlement and avoid the need for an injunction.

McDonald said his half-million member union would respect the injunction if issued, but he added, "The basic issue will remain. There may be a truce enforced by law but there will be no permanent peace." He made it clear the strike probably would be resumed about New Year's.

His voice rising to a shout at times, McDonald told the fact-finders the steel companies were demanding "unconditional surrender." What they wanted, he said, "was for the United Steelworkers to act like a company union. This union will not be converted into a tool of management."

To Hear Experts

The board is expected to hear a half dozen union experts today, then turn its attention to the management side of the case Wednesday. That would leave Thursday and Friday for preparing the report to the President.

Board chairman George W. Taylor disclosed Monday night he has met with both sides and is exploring the possibility of mediating a settlement, making the Taft-Hartley injunction unnecessary.

He said he would like to be able to say to Eisenhower when the report is represented "that there seems to be hope (for settlement) through negotiation."

One of the main points at issue is the companies' demand for the right to change local working conditions to cut down labor costs.

'Over Our Dead Bodies'

McDonald said these changes would be imposed "only over our dead bodies." He said this would eliminate protection of workers in such cases.

Another basic issue is wages. Steel management began the negotiations by suggesting no raise at all this year, pleading that a wage boost would set off another inflationary spiral.

The companies later made a money offer which the union rejected. They said they offered wages and benefits worth 15 cents an hour over a two-year period. The union demanded 15 cents an hour for each year.

Steel workers averaged $3.11 an hour before the strike.

Boy, 16, Held For Slaying Two

Admits Killing Father, Sister of Girl Friend

L'ANSE, Mich. (AP) — "I just can't believe it," murmured Ferdinand Paquet. "We gave him all kinds of love and tenderness. He never did a wrong thing."

Paquet spoke sorrowfully of his son Eugene 16, held in the slaying of his girl friend's father and 10-year-old sister.

Prosecutor William G. Konstenius said the boy orally admitted the slaying of Edward Frosland, 44, a L'Anse laborer, and his daughter Lila Lynn, Sunday night.

"I did it," the boy told the prosecutor Monday. "But I don't know why. That family has been awful good to me."

Konstenius said he would ask juvenile court to waive custody of the boy so he could be tried on a first-degree murder charge.

The prosecutor said Eugene had written in a notebook while sitting in bed Saturday night:

"Lure Ed downstairs. Get ready for the girl. Get stuff (paper bag containing rope, gags and a pistol) in house. Put club on sofa. Put rest of bag in corner..

"Knock out girl. Tie and gag them. Put them in bedroom.

"Do anything then."

Frosland died of a bullet wound in the head. Lila Lynn was strangled. Coroner H. J. Winkler said she had been struck on the head.

Eugene, described by neighbors as "a good boy and a very strict Baptist," took Shirley Frosland, 16, and her sister, Sally, 14, to L'Anse Baptist church Sunday night. He and Shirley had dated for about two years.

Paquet left during the service, complaining of illness, Konstenius said. The prosecutor said Paquet stated that he went home,

British Investigate Crash of Bomber

LONDON (AP) — The government today opened an inquiry into the crash of a secret British atom bomber with an American civilian at the controls.

The pilot, William Lewis Alford, was an employe of Langley research center, Langley Field, Va. He was killed Monday along with John Joyce, a British employe of the firm that makes the plane.

Alford arrived in Britain only 10 days ago. He lived in Hampton, Va. He was married and the father of four children, a U. S. Navy spokesman said.

The U. S. Navy is helping to finance production of the supersonic Blackburn NA39. The planes have been ordered by the British navy. Officials in London said the U. S. Navy also plans to buy the plane.

Police and security officers cordoned off the area where the plane crashed. The plane went down in a wooded area not far north of Portsmouth and the English Channel.

Traffic Mishap Adds to Coach's Plight

Injury Jinx Continues To Plague Beaver Local

The injury-riddled Beaver Local High School football squad received another blow Monday evening when two first string players were injured when they wrecked their motorcycle while returning home from practice.

Fred Needs, star fullback, and John Smith, veteran end, were taken to East Liverpool City Hospital for treatment. Both boys are from RD 1, Negley. The accident occurred about a mile north of the school on Route 7.

Needs received knee injuries as well as other cuts and bruises. He will be out of action for at least two weeks and possibly for the balance of the season.

Smith suffered a cut above his left eye and other minor injuries. The team's fastest halfback, Smith, already had a broken hand from an earlier football injury.

This makes a total of six injured varsity players, three linemen and three backs, who will probably miss the remainder of the season. Adding to Coach Jack O'Rourke's woes, these men are among the heavier men on the squad. The team was already one of the lightest in the district.

Other members of the team who are injured are fullback Dale Beagle, who suffered a brain concussion in the opening game of the season; tackle Ron Westover, who accidentally shot himself in the foot; and halfback Bob Noel and tackle Roger Hoffman, both of whom have football injuries.

The Beavers are scheduled to meet their toughest foe of the season Saturday when they travel to Dennison St. Mary's.

U.S. Shoots Missile Toward Explorer VI

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Air Force launched a missile from a bomber today toward a point in space close to Explorer VI as that satellite passed in orbit around the earth.

There was no immediate detail on the outcome beyond a description of the launching as "successful."

Further reports awaited study of telemetry signals from the missile and a comparison of those data with radar readings on its flight.

The launching was carried out over the Atlantic missile range by a B47 bomber from Patrick Air Force Base at 5 a.m.

No attempt was made to intercept or knock down the satellite, but only to pass near it in order to check the accuracy of the guidance system.

The missile was built by the Martin Co. as part of an Air Force contract to demonstrate the feasibility of firing ballistic missiles from aircraft.

The B47 fired the two-stage, 37-foot missile from beneath its wing while flying a few miles southeast of the Cape at an altitude of 35,000 feet.

At the moment of launch, the Paddle Wheel satellite was traveling north of here at its maximum speed of 26,000 miles an hour, at a height of about 160 miles, the low point on its highly elliptical orbit.

The missile was supposed to pass about 10 miles in front of Explorer VI.

Since the exact orbital position of the satellit was known, an accurate measurement of the miss distance is possible.

Late Bulletin

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A powerful Juno II rocket thundered skyward today carrying a potential "gyroscope" satellite that could answer many questions about space and weather.

The rocket was fired at 11:31 a.m. EDT.

Word on whether the satellite achieved orbit around the earth was expected in about two hours from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Long distance telephone service was curtailed again today as 70 operators on the day shift failed to report for work.

As Monday, when 60 operators left their switchboards, local service and direct dialing of long distance calls proceeded as usual, but distant calls requiring operators were limited to "essential" business.

The stoppage was blamed by Local 4300 of the Communications Workers Union on the firing of an operator Thursday.

Rode to Execution Sitting on Coffin

John Brown's Death Swelled North's Anti-Slavery Feeling

By JOHN LUNDQUIST

HARPERS FERRY, W. Va. (AP)—The bizarre Harpers Ferry raid was nearly 34 hours old. John Brown and his exhausted band awaited fate inside their fort.

Of the 19 men who had marched on the federal arsenal in Harpers Ferry the night of Sunday, Oct. 16, 1859, only Brown and four others remained unwounded at dawn Tuesday. The dramatic blow against slavery had brought no slave insurrection, no support — only entrapment or death for Brown and his men.

At the first light, Col. Robert E. Lee, commanding the forces out to capture the raiders, sent Lt. J.E.B. Stuart to the heavy wooden doors of the besieged fire engine house to demand surrender.

Brown declined, unless he and his band were permitted to retreat with their hostages.

Stuart, who remembered the bearded, fierce-eyed Brown as the man "who had given us so much trouble" in the antislavery fights in Kansas, wouldn't hear of it. A dozen Marines using sledge hammers and a heavy ladder as a battering ram stormed the stronghold. Two Marines were wounded, one fatally. Their comrades bayoneted two of Brown's men to death.

The storming party's leader, Lt. Israel Green, aimed a sword thrust at Brown, but the weapon bent on Brown's belt buckle. Green then beat him to the ground with the sword hilt.

The raid was over. Of Brown's 22 followers, 10 were killed, 7 escaped, and 5 were taken prisoner. Two fugitives, captured in southern Pennsylvania within a week, were returned, tried and hanged like the other prisoners.

On Nov. 2 Judge Richard Parker sentenced Brown to be hanged one month later. By this death, Brown himself said, he could be of greater service to the anti-slavery cause than by his life.

Fed by Brown's heroic and touching letters of peaceful resignation and unshaken conviction, sympathy in the north swelled. Proportionately, the South's disgust intensified.

The last days passed quickly for the condemned man. He was ready, he declared. His life had been varied, full and frequently violent. He had uprooted his family time and again as he went from trade to trade, place to place—tanner, shepherd, farmer, surveyor, cattle dealer, real estate speculator and wool merchant.

His hatred of slavery, grown to consuming passion, dated from early youth. But not until 1856 had he actively fought against the institution. A Bible-reading, Bible-quoting patriarch, Brown took up what he considered the sword of righteousness after following his sons to Kansas. There he led a company of raiders in wild skirmishing against proslavery forces moving in from Missouri.

There, too, he acquired the blackest mark against his name in the killing of five innocent men at Osawatomie in May 1856 during one of his forays. Their chief offense was living in proslavery territory. Brown denied killing any of the victims, but as leader of the party, which included four of his sons, he certainly shared the guilt.

All this was far behind him on Dec. 2 when they drove old John Brown to his execution, seated on his coffin in a horse-drawn cart. Thousands of troops were deployed around Harpers Ferry to prevent any last - minute attempt to free him. At an open field near Charles Town Brown mounted the scaffold.

He shook the hands of authorities near him, said a calm goodby and, after a white hood was slipped over his head, stepped onto the trapdoor.

The sheriff asked Brown if he wanted to give a signal with a dropped handkerchief. No, said Brown, "just don't keep me waiting too long."

The trap door was sprung. After a few moments of silence, Col. J.T.L. Preston intoned: "So perish all such enemies of Virginia. All enemies of the union! All such foes of the human race!"

John Brown had perished, but it was not the end.

Next weekend there will be an elaborately planned centennial observance of John Brown's raid at Harpers Ferry. Sponsors are careful not to call it a "celebration." While Brown struck a blow to free the slaves, he also helped kindle fires of animosity that time has not completely dimmed.

JOHN BROWN HIMSELF — This picture of John Brown, leader of the historic raid on federal arsenal at Harpers Ferry, Va., was made in 1857. Brown led raid seeking to seize arms and start uprising which would free all slaves in U.S.

Mother of Four Killed Near Ravenna

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—An Elyria couple were injured seriously and a Portage County mother of four was killed Monday in a car collision on Ohio 14 two miles southeast of Streetsboro.

The woman killed, Mrs. Grace Hough, 28, was hurrying from her job in Streetsboro to get to her home at Muzzy Lake south of here and prepare supper for her husband and four children. Highway Patrolmen said she pulled out to pass a tractor-trailer unit and smashed broadside into an oncoming car.

That car was driven by Clayton D. Leonhart, 51, of 115 Dilworth St., Elyria, and his wife, Eva also 51, was with him. The Leonharts were listed in poor condition today at Robinson Memorial Hospital here.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M. D.

Proper Way to Select a Doctor

I don't go for a lot of the advice that is freely given people who are looking for a family doctor.

Official listings emphasize the ratings of the doctor's medical school and hospital, his connections with the "right" organizations, his research interests and publications.

Dr. H. T. Hyman

Well - intentioned neighbors love to credit "miracles" and "cures" to their favorites and to blame the doctor they don't like for mistakes."

Official listings may give a relatively low ranking to the dedicated doctor whose competence has been proven time and time again in the hurly-burly of home and office practice.

These same listings might highly recommend a chief of a hospital service, who might be unable to go it alone without the assistance of a staff.

IT MAY NOT OCCUR to your glib neighbors, who tout their favorite doctor like a race horse, that they have no qualifications for judging medical competence or incompetence. Indeed they would probably be quite critical of the doctor who set himself up as a judge of their business affairs, which might be far less complex than the challenges of medical practice.

I will give you my own minority opinion of the best way to choose your doctor.

First, you need one who is available. A French proverb says: "The presence of the doctor is the first part of the cure."

In this regard, the testimony of neighbors is helpful, especially to the new arrival in a community.

THE YOUNG MOTHER facing her first trial of labor, inexperienced parents having to deal with the multiple problems of infant and child care, old folks with their growing infirmities — all desperately need the assurance of knowing that their "doc" is on the job, that he can be reached by phone, that he will respond to a call when summoned.

They need to know that he will sit out a protracted childbirth or critical illness, that he will ease the anguish of those who "walk through the valley of the shadow of death."

When you have discovered a doctor who is available, you will then want to assure yourself that you and he are tuned in. Here your neighbor's testimony is of little help and official listings are of even less use. You'll have to do your own testing to find out whether you rub one another the wrong way or whether you fly the same beam.

Ask one of the candidates recommended to you for a meeting at his convenience. Tell him you are looking for a family physician. If you don't feel comfortable in his presence try another doctor. If he inspires you with confidence, trust and a feeling of warmth, chances are that he's your man.

A UNIQUE METHOD of choosing a physician was employed by one of my patients some years ago. During an epidemic of influenza he was in a foreign country supervising the construction of an industrial plant.

Seized by fever and the characteristic discomforts of grippe, he remembered reading a newspaper account of the death of the mayor. He phoned the mayor's home, learned the name of the doctor who attended him during his fatal illness, and summoned the physician.

"How did you obtain my name" the doctor asked.

"I read that you took care of the mayor," my friend replied.

"But the mayor died," the physician sputtered, "that is hardly a recommendation for a doctor."

To this the prospective patient replied:

"I knew that you must be good or the mayor would not have you. And if you've lost a good patient, I figured you must have gotten together all the information available in your efforts to save his life. Well, you lost him, but maybe you can use what you found out to save me. So I called you."

Handyman Queried In Knife Slayings

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A 48-year-old handyman has been arrested for questioning about the savage knife slayings of a suburban Webster Groves woman and her brother Monday.

Fester Bridges of St. Louis, was picked up here Monday night on a request from suburban Webster Groves police. He was booked as a fugitive from Webster Groves under suspicion of homicide.

Police said Bridges, a Negro who had been using the alias of Peter Eel, had worked for the Haas family as an odd jobs man.

The bodies of Alice Haas, 52, and her brother, Cecil W. Giles, 56, were found by Mrs. Haas' stepson, David Haas, 9, when he returned from selling tickets to a Cub Scout event.

Police Chief Ovid Yadon of Webster Groves said a neighbor of the Haas family related seeing Bridges talking to the victims just before their bodies were found.

Bridges denied being anywhere in the neighborhood.

Time For An Economic Change

Treasury Secretary Anderson has served noticed on the nations of Western Europe that the United States believes it is time to take a new approach to international economic development.

He told the annual meeting of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund the other day that the nations which the U.S. has helped toward postwar recovery should start sharing responsibility for economic stability.

He listed two principal ways they can do so:

1. Remove their rigid controls on imports and payment in dollars.

2. Take a hand in distributing aid to underdeveloped nations.

THE FACT that his ideas drew favorable reaction from the countries he had in mind was an indication that he stands on solid ground. It also attests to the success of America's efforts to help her friends get back on their feet after the ravages of World War II.

The U.S., at no small sacrifice, accepted the responsibilities of leadership that fall on strong and wealthy nations. It poured money and know-how into the economies of Britain, France, West Germany and Italy. It accepted, even sometimes encouraged, one-sided trade balances to give them the shot in the arm they needed to restore health to sick economies.

The treatment was successful. All of these nations now are enjoying almost unprecedented prosperity and the greater degrees of political security that goes with prosperity.

But the doctor cannot keep giving of himself indefinitely without running the risk of getting sick himself. And that in effect was what Mr. Anderson said might happen unless the pace is eased for the U.S.

HE POINTED out to the gathered financial leaders that the U.S. has a $4,500,000,000 deficit in its balance of payments because its export surplus of three billion dollars has been more than offset by military expenditures, investments and aid abroad.

One way to solve the problem would be for the U.S. to reduce these outflows sharply to make up the difference. And Mr. Anderson left no doubt that he would advocate such action if necessary.

But he said he preferred to see the same end accomplished through a sharing by the Allies this nation has helped so generously.

That is the way good neighbors work.

No Easy Way to Utopia

The testimony of three economists before a congressional committee that union-won wage increases have little effect on inflation points up a couple of the reasons this issue has become a major battle of our economic age.

Economics is a profession or a scholarly pursuit, not a science. Economists differ widely in their viewpoints. In addition, the terms they use are not always confined to exact, scientific definitions, so it is possible that economists who appear to be talking about the same thing are not.

Thus those who would seize upon the congressional witnesses' statements to discount the influence of wages on inflation would be well advised to take a second look.

The economic school of thought that downgrades the importance of inflationary pressures certainly is not new. It exerted considerable influence on the administrations of Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman. One of its most articulate spokesmen was the late Sumner Slichter, who said "creeping inflation" was a good thing to keep the country growing.

But such a statement tends to confuse inflation with expansion. Admittedly, it is difficult to recognize the distinction between the two, but there are some guides.

One is the purchasing power of the dollar. That part of a higher standard of living that can be bought with the same amount of dollars previously spent on the lower standard of living is sound expansion. The number of extra dollars required to buy the higher standard is inflation.

There can be little argument that the same amount of dollars do not buy today what they bought before. The current value of the dollars has been placed comparatively as low as 38 cents.

Another guide is productivity. If the increase in production keeps pace with the increase in prices and wages, the result is sound expansion. When prices and wages outstrip productivity, the result is inflation.

It has been common knowledge for some time that the American economy has come perilously close to that point generally and in some cases passed it. Secretary Mitchell's factual report on the steel industry picture in August showed that both wages and prices had risen faster than production in recent years.

This is one of the reasons automation has been viewed as the principle hope for the American economy. It is a means of restoring the balance between productivity and prices and wages, creating sound expansion rather than inflation.

The one thing that all economists agree on is the desirability of solid growth in the nation's economy. But to insure that, it is important to avoid being misled by those who say they have an easy way to do it.

Castro's 'Revolutionary' Ideas

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro continues to act and talk like a man who plans to bring something less than democracy to the nation he once promised to retrieve from the clutches of dictatorship.

His latest public outbursts are highly significant on that score. In the face of foreign criticism of some of his fiscal policies, he definatly announced that Cuba can go it alone. In the face of press criticism at home, he charged that anyone who opposes his policies is serving the interests of the enemies of the revolution.

These are familiar phrases. History attests to the fact that there has scarcely ever been a dictator who did not start out by freeing them. The strategy is to appeal to mass emotions by appearing defiant, confident and always right. It is a highly successful one, which is the reason it is used so often.

The next step usually is to silence gradually the press that does not parrot the regime's line. That serves to keep dissident views both without and within the country from reaching the people.

This has not happened in Havana yet, but there are signs it may be in the offing. Cuba's oldest and largest newspaper, which was the subject of Mr. Castro's recent attack because it criticized some aspects of the tax program, has charged that press freedom still exists but "it is a very special freedom." It lambasted officials who say one thing in public and another in private.

And the premier has rejected any investigation by the Inter-American Press Assn. into freedom of the press in Cuba.

It may well be that the policies Premier Castro has adopted are proper ones for the situation his country faces. But in democracy,the means to an end are as important as the end itself.

Perhaps Fidel Castro is sincere when he says that his stern approach is simply an expedient necessary until Cuba is stable enough to handle real freedom.

But that is an old argument of developing dictators, too.

Once Over

Combining entertainment, drama, crime and whodunit routines, the House committee probe of quiz shows was so exciting it should be offered for movie rights. Testimony that crookedness was featured as an airwave "spectacular" has jarred the public.

If charges are true, it's easy to understand why some quiz shows appeared between private-eye programs.

But bad as quiz show operators are painted, a fair question is: "How about contestants who, when propositioned on a nefarious dea, said, "Okay, let's go,' instead of 'Pardon me while I see the district attorney'?"

Suggestion for quiz show questions for some witnesses:

Q. Who first said, "Never give a sucker an even break," and how come you endorsed the idea?

Q. Was it Bernard Shaw, William Shakespeare or Al Capone who said, "If I get my cut I'll go along"?

Q. Name four men who said, "I refuse to answer on the grounds that it might degrade me," and state why you weren't honest enough to say the same thing on the

Q. Who was the author of The show must est enough to say the same thing on the program which you knew was a 'fix."

Q. Who was the author of "The show must go on," and why, after getting the script in advance, weren't you honest enough to shout, "Not with my help, Buster"?

Q. Name the person who said, "I care not who writes the laws of a nation if somebody writes me the script for easy dough on a jackpot show." Could it have been you?

When all the evidence is in, if it's well established, certain quiz programs were "for the birds." American TV fans who were held spellbound by the airwave intelligence are going to need a year's supply of pain killer regardless of tired blood situation.

P.T.K.INSISTS that in a broadcast he he heard, "We will pause in this epic contest to make way for a woman shaving her legs, coast-to-coast." Female leg shavers were on our screen as much as ballplayers. In fact, we thought several were kept in there too long and should have been taken out.

Because of a riot last winter Yale and New Haven have named a town and gown board for more peaceful relations. It's a distinguished committee but it could be powerless before the first snowball fight.

TV is being used under trains to photograph defects in subway rails, etc. A sort of "Will Travel; Have Camera" program.

Khrushchev has asked for several American helicopters instead of the one Ike promised him. He is sure they are great for getting off the ground above embarrassing questions and landing quickly in an area where all queries are pre-studied.

Devastating line by Jack Gould on Hawaiian airwave drama bearing his name: "Mr. Michener presumably authorized the series because there is as yet no TV in his beloved South Sea Islands. This is fortunate lest he encounter difficulties in renewing his option on the Pacific Ocean."

It Could Happen Here

Amateurs Upstage Pros

By ELIE ABEL

These are trying times for the whole tribe of professional diplomats, on either side of what used to be called the Iron Curtain.

They are being pushed off stage by earnest amateurs, trying their hand at do-it-yourself stagecraft.

Consider Andrei A. Gromyko, the mournful foreign minister of the Soviet Union. Throughout Nikita Khrushchev's recent American tour Gromyko always lagged a few steps behind his boss, seldom speaking and seldom spoken to, at least in public.

The Soviet Premier, whose admiration for career diplomats is strictly limited was seeing for himself and drawing his own conclusions. Gromyko looked even more mournful than usual.

Yet the Berlin crisis is over or maybe just postponed. A summit conference is more or less assured, whether it takes place before the end of the year or early in 1960.

There is serious talk of new efforts to cut back armaments on both sides. Under Secretary of State Douglas Dillon says the administration may ask Congress to revoke some of the legislative barriers to exanded trade with the Soviet Union.

The professionals insist that none of the basic East-West problems has been solved but they cannot deny the change in atmosphere and outlook, wrought by two politicians after the diplomats had failed.

TIME WAS when heads of government knew their place. They came together often after the professionals had drafted an agreement, with all the T's crossed and all the I's dotted.

Then the presidents and prime ministers paraded their dignity before the cameras and put their signatures, with appropriate flourishes, on a vellum document.

President Eisenhower himself, as recently as last June 17, spoke up for old style diplomacy. Questioned about his willingness to attend a summit conference even if the foreign ministers meeting in Geneva produced no results, the president was caustic:

"To assume that foreign ministers have now become useless, they are no good and throw them away and make every single head of government or head of state to spend his time in work that has been the function of specialists in this line—I think is a step backward in diplomacy. . . .

"And, to my mind, if these foreign ministers meetings cannot prepare the ground . . . and sow some of the seed for accord, then I see no use whatsoever for trying to have a harvest when there is no planting and no tilling."

Yet President Eisenhower today is prepared to go to the summit without advance groundwork by the foreign ministers. He is satisfiedl, on the strength of his private talks with Premier Khrushchev at Camp David, that the Berlin impasse has been broken. "No one is under duress, no one is under any kind of threat," he said.

THE ODDLY INFORMAL arrangement for signaling the end of the Berlin threat is characteristic of the new do-it-yourself diplomacy.

Any well schooled professional would have insisted on writing this happy outcome into the communique issued at the close of the Khrushchev - Eisenhower talks in Camp David.

Eisenhower was willing but Khrushchev said no. Each subsequently gave his own version of the Berlin agreement. Happily, they coincided closely.

Having considered the immediate threat to Berlin removed, by taking Khrushchev at his word, the President is now committed to some form of negotiation toward a more permanent settlement.

What troubles many diplomats in this capital is that by his choice of words the President seems to have reversed the agreed Western position.

In his news conference he spoke twice of Berlin's "abnormal situation." This is decidedly a Soviet argument.

It was Gromyko at Geneva who insisted that Berlin was a danger point, bristling with spies and intrigue, which must be liqudated. The Western foreign ministers argued time and again that there was nothing abnormal about Berlin's situation.

The nervousness apparent in diplomatic circles in Washington arises from the President's seeming acceptance of Soviet logic on Berlin. To them this seems to point toward a solution along the lines offered by Khrushchev.

This would entail Western troop withdrawals, leaving only a "token" garrison in Western Berlin and in the long run some form of "free city," belong neither to East Germany nor to the West German Federal Republic but administered and guaranteed by the United Nations.

Watch The Markets

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the quickest ways to see how big is a bit of news is to watch the markets.

Three security markets here and abroad—each in its own way—mirrored last week's big financial and business news.

The New York stock market did it by simply marking time while waiting for something to break in the steel strike. That's how big the strike is in the economy.

The New York bond market bid up prices in response to the bold venture of Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson in tapping individual savings in a move that some think may halt the rise in interest rates. That's how big the financial world deems tight money and the counter fear of more inflation.

The London Stock Exchange ran wild because of a Conservative party election victory. That's how big in the British economy was the threat of a return to socialism.

British stock prices made the biggest daily increase ever recorded. The Labor party's defeat was interpreted as removing the threat of further nationalization of industry, the imposition of a capital gains tax, and of stiffer controls on business.

The Conservative victory made a summit conference look nearer to the British investor who thought this would bring a thaw in the cold war and more trade with the Communist bloc.

He also thought the increased Tory majority in Commons would lead to more effort to keep wage increases from exceeding productivity gains.

In the banking world the big furor was the Treasury 5 per cent marketable notes aimed at the small investor for a change, instead of at the banks and the big financial institutions and funds.

A lot of money was taken out of savings accounts in banks and savings and loan associations—and out of U.S. savings bonds, too—to buy the notes with the highest interest rate in 30 years.

The banks weren't happy at losing the deposits. Competition in luring savings was keen enough as it was among all the institutions needing deposits so they could make loans without having Uncle Sam come in as an added starter.

But to the extent that the Treasury raised money from individual savers instead of banks it was taking a tiny step forward halting inflation.

And to the extent it was getting out of the congested short-term money market it was easing the pressure that has been sending interest rates up.

Prices of other bonds rallied on the strength of that.

Win for Conservatism

By DAVID LAWRENCE

May Be Forerunner of Victory In U.S.

Conservatives in the United States can derive much satisfaction from the victory of the Conservative party in the British elections. Conservatives in both the Republican and Democratic parties in America can rejoice. Conservatism in Britain triumphed against radicalism — gainst an experimentation with the national economy and the fiscal structure that threatened serious disturbance to business.

David Lawrence

There are parallels between what has happened in England and the political trend in this country. There are important implications that can be read into the future.

The Labor party in Britain is composed of two factions — just as is the Democratic party in the United States. One faction in the Labor party is conservative, just as are southern Democrats in America.

The other faction in the Labor party is radical, with a strong labor - union backing, like "liberals" in the Democratic party in the North here. This lack of unity hurt the British Labor party with independent voters. Many a worker with allegiance to his labor union declined to tell the pollsters how he was going to vote. The "don't knows" often know very well how they intend to vote but simply refuse to disclose their secret.

BASIC FACTORS in the British election were the same as have been experienced in America in other elections. These are the factor of contentment on the economic side and peace in international relations.

England has been recovering steadily from the war years and has managed to handle its budgetary affaris efficiently. Unemployment had been kept down, and the price structure has been stable.

Under such circumstances, voters say, "Why change?" British Conservative leaders "offered" the voters good times and peace. They promised these would continue to be their goals.

Everyone realizes, of course, that peace is a two-sided affair and another country can upset it, but fundamentally the party in power promises to do all it can to forward the cause of peace. Thus, Prime Minister Macmillan's trip to see Premier Khrushchev in Moscow, followed as it was by the Soviet premier's visit to the United States, put the Conservative party in the position of striving to find some way out of a deadlock.

The fact Prime Minister Macmillan is friendly with President Eisenhower and has been able to restore good relations between America and Britain helped Conservatives to gain the confidence of the people. America's good will is important to Britain's trade and defense.

Broadly speaking, the election was a triumph for sound fiscal policies and conservative programs. In America, the Republican party is characterized by Democrats as being "the party of business." Republicans could well retort this is true up to a point—that Republicans have always striven to be "the party of good business." The Democratic party might well try to make that its objective, too.

AFTER ALL is said and done, unemployment loses elections for the party in power. The recent recession lost Congress for the Republicans in 1958, but there have been evidences in the last few months that Republican chances for 1960 are improving.

Politics is the same the world over in democracies. The issues revolve around the well-being of the people — their domestic problems and their apprehensions on the international side.

The British Labor party made several mistakes. It promised certain benefits, but it showed a tendency to tamper with the tax and business structure in a way that created fears of irresponsible government.

The British electorate is fundamentally conservative. It wants liberal programs but not at the expense of a demoralized economic system.

Hence, nationalization of industry, popular a few years ago with the Labor party, has split that organization. A third party — the Liberal party — has begun to draw "conservative liberals" away from "radical liberals" in the Labor party.

That's why the Liberal party, though a small 5 per cent of the total, significantly increased its strength from half that figure in the previous election, whereas the Labor party lost several percentage points.

CONSERVATISM'S victory in Britain may be the forerunner of a conservative victory in the United States.

Here, too, the Republican party is veering away from "radical liberal" doctrines and is making a bid for the "conservative liberals" who have previously been attracted by the Democratic party but are being alienated by the unsound fiscal policies of northern radicals.

In Britain, many a housewife whose husband is a trade unionist went to the polls to vote against the Labor party. The same thing is likely to happen in America, unless union leaders stop belittling the exposures of the McClellan committee and, instead of urging repeal, do something to carry out the spirit and purposes of the labor-reform law.

New York Herald Tribune

And They're Cheap!

By TRUMAN TWILL

There had been so many stories in the papers about a big fight over assessing sheepmen to whoop up lamb and wool sales that I went outside to see if the woolies at our place were still chewing.

They were.

They looked like a lot of sheep, considering that they are not thought of as a project but only as a sideline, like the cats. That's because another lush summer has kept them stuffed with juicy grass and they have bay windows.

But to get back to the assessment, I confess the whole thing is news to me. I've noticed some first-rate advertising telling people wool and lamb are first class and they should get the benefits of every doubt, but I was not aware of any collecting.

Perhaps this is because I refuse to collect the wool subsidy the Department of Agriculture pays, because I do not believe it belongs to anyone but bona fide sheep farmers. Maybe they subtract it from the federal subsidy. I don't know how it's done.

I do know, though, that people who say they do not like lamb mean they do not like the taste of mutton. It is like it would be if someone who had never eaten edible beef said he did not like beef. Mutton is rugged stuff for an American palate.

Lamb is good, when it's really lamb. Unfortunately, a lot of what is sold as lamb is mutton. The very size of the cuts shows the size of the animal it came from.

It bothers me, even though I am not in business to raise lamb, when people say they do not like something they never have eaten. It happens I do not like pork and that I say so, if asked, but at least I know what I mean when I say pork. Lamb is sheep meat from an animal less than a year old that has been raised for meat purposes and nothing else. And it's good eating.

It is not likely to become popular because it is something different for most Amercans. They feel about it the way I feel about rattlesnake meat and snails. They're not that hungry.

It's wool that worries me when I think about the possibility the sheep may follow the Great Auk into extinction. Here is one of nature's benefactions that has been shoved aside by people who have learned how to make fabric from synthetic fibers.

Their synthetics are good. I prefer them to many purposes. But just as sure as the next national deficit, synthetics would be discontinued overnight in the event of another one of the wars that never were supposed to be fought. They would go the way of Lucky Strike green and the cuffs on my 1944 pants. They would become as scarce as, well, as scarce as a popular type of synthetic hosiery became during the latest and greatest project to save civilization.

Suddenly, there would be a howl for wool, and there would be no way to hustle up a crop, or increase the size of the source. It takes 157 days from this time of year to produce a baby lamb, and it takes a lamb about the same length of time or a little longer to grow a fleece.

The big thing about this pokey process is that it's all done with miracles. Grass, water, sunlight and time, and they're cheap! Ideal for wartime.

Well, there they were, grazing away—our woolies. The lambs that were born late last winter are as big as their mothers. They have handsome fleeces. The fleeces bulge with the lamb chops and the legs of lamb inside them.

Almost makes a fellow wish he were in the sheep business, even if things are so tough that sheepmen are doking out a penny a pound on wool to avert extinction.

nside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Superstitious is not the word for Jimmy Hoffa. Yet he's worried about Friday, the 13th — of November. From that day on, he won't be able to throw picket lines around as though they were hundred dollar bills.

Victor Riesel

For on Nov. 13 the new labor reform law's picketing sections take effect. Exactly what the act does to his power, Hoffa doesn't quite know. That's why there's been so loud a silence from his inner sanctum. He has been briefed by his 100 lawyers, for most of whom he has cold contempt.

And while he has been listening to them or reading their analyses of what he can or can't do, Hoffa also has been disturbed by news that on or about Nov. 13 a federal court will begin hearings on the Teamsters' Monitors' motion to remove him from the union's presidency.

If superstitious is not the word for Hoffa, power is. And what Nov. 13 does is to hit him in his power — won over two decades by his ability to lend other union chiefs strength on a picket line. This is how Jimmy grew.

FOR EXAMPLE, he was able to make himself a little giant among Teamsters in the South and Southwest with a simple technique. He could assure them that non-union truck drivers, hauling costly cargo over-the-road from the deep South or Southwest, could not unload in any Central state. Here's how it would work:

Hoffa's office would get a call from a Southern Teamsters leader. The caller would say that the Interplanetary and Inner Space Trucking Corp. was sending a huge van load of material to the Outer Space Warehouse in Detroit.

The Southern unionist would tell Hoffa that he was dispatching two pickets to Detroit to pace outside the Outer Space Warehouse — a storage depot unionized by Hoffa's Detroit Teamsters.

Hoffa would say okay. His men would not unload that non-union truck when it arrived. It was dead storage on wheels. Its drivers either had to sign up with the Southern Teamsters local or trundle the cargo thousands of miles back to the shipper in Texas.

..TAKE ANOTHER CASE. A non-union trucking company has a license from the Interstate Commerce Commission to run big vans over-the-road from, say, New Orleans to Chicago. Frequently that shipper also got a contract to haul stuff into New York.

So the non-union trucker would send the van to Chicago.

There the front "cab" — in which the driver sits over the wheel and which simply hooks onto the storage part of the van — would be uncoupled.

Another firm would agree, for a fee, to attach its motor to the van and haul it from Chicago to New York. The second firm could do that because it had a license to run that highway.

But the Chicago - New York trucker was unionized by Jimmy Hoffa's Central States combine of Teamster locals. And when a Southern Teamsters chief telephoned and said that the Louisiana trucking company was non-union Hoffa would say okay, no Northern company or driver would haul the van when it came to Chicago.

Thus Hoffa, through his central U. S. strength, become a power in the Teamsters long before he became president. He could always be counted on by Southern and Southwestern Teamsters officials to help them sign up local trucking companies.

IN EVERY CITY where Teamsters have any strength, there always has been a list of plants struck by other unions not affiliated with the truck union.

This list would be held by girls at the Teamsters locals' switchboards. When they got a call from a truck driver who said he had a shipment for such and such a plant but there was a picketline in front of it and what should he do, the girl would search the list.

Okay she'd say, "Don't deliver. Respect the picket line." That's what gave the Teamsters their strength.

But after Friday, the 13th of November, all these practices are illegal under the hot cargo, secondary boycott and picketing regulations of the new law.

Where there's a law, there's a loophole. And where there's a loophole, Kummy will find it. That's why he's been silent. He's looking.

London Bobby

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"I think I speak for all my colleagues when I say we don't want to be armed," said Constable Norman Niblo of the City of London.

Constable Niblo also feels, despite a postwar growth of violence, the British public doesn't want its police to carry guns as a daily duty.

"If we do, every petty little crook will start carrying a gun. People will be hurt," he said.

Constable Niblo, a 6-foot-2, heavy-bodied man — weight 18 stone or 252 pounds — has never used a gun in nearly a quarter century as a British policeman.

The big, good-natured, 46-year-old officer is here on a good will visit to the United States. His face and form are familiar to thousands of tourists who have visited his beat, the ancient, mile-square financial heart of the British Commonwealth.

"The traffic here is fantastic," said Niblo, after a sight of Times Square. The mid-London area he and some 700 other fellow officers patrol has fantastic traffic problems of its own. Its residential population at night is about 5,000 —its workday population rises to 750,000.

A student of the historical lore of his city and his craft, Niblo brought with him a number of souvenirs of police work in London a century ago. It was in this period that the police, nicknamed "Charlies" during the reign of Charles II, came to be known as "Peelers" or "Bobbies," after Sir Robert Peel, pioneer of modern police systems.

The policeman of that time wore a high top hat and looked more like a society figure. He had no whistle. He carried a large wooden ratchet, which he whirred to summon aid. It made an infernal din. He also carried his own gas light, anchored to his belt.

Oddly, the truncheon of that day is longer and more slender, but less formidable, than the compact club Niblo carries in his daily duty, but says he has never had to use on a man in 24 years.

A mild-speaking man, he has a quiet pride in his ability to handle ordinary police problems with the authority of his voice and hands. By this he means the usual thing —trouble at a bar, a minor disturbance of the peace.

Among the constable's rewards for keeping the peace is a boot allowance of three or four shillings —42 to 56 cents—a week. He also has available without cost to him the services of a chiropodist, although he has never had any major foot trouble himself.

"Violence is growing a bit in the metropolitan area, including attacks on police," he said regretfully when questioned. "Most of the increase is among young people."

Women Prove Business Needs Women

It's Your Pocketbook

By FAYE HENLE

Women are a growing force in all facets of business, industry and finance. The woman's viewpoint is wanted!

Some women make headlines as they move up the ranks to become presidents of their companies, to sit on boards of directors. Yet, for every such woman, there are literally thousands of others that back her up, who perform a host of important chores — clerical, secretarial, research. Often you'll find that these women are not just highly skilled, but highly trained to perform their tasks. Yet, for the most part they remain anonymous.

What fascinates me the most is the kind of training the headline woman has. What quality within her is the guiding force that makes her rise?

THOUGH SOME institutions of higher learning for ladies date back 100 years or more, you may discover quickly that, unlike the lady doctor or lawyer, the woman in business or finance today is largely self-taught. She has accomplished what many of us may accomplish if only we had that wonderful capacity for sighting a goal and never giving a thought to the details or obstacles that might lie in the way.

This does not mean, of course, that my headline woman has not had her thought processes sharpened by training on the college level. Sometimes she has. But where can one go to take a course on how to become a member of the board of directors?

Many of you who read this could do, in your own way, what Josephine Bay Paul has done. President and chairman of A. M. Kidder & Company, chairman of American Export Lines, Inc., Mrs. Paul won her titles with merit just be performing the duties that any good wife should perform.

She developed a consuming interest in her late husband's business affairs. She devoted herself to learning as much as she could about them. Because she was such an apt pupil, her husband devoted much of his time to teaching her.

OLIVE ANN BEECH, president and chairman of Beech Aircraft Company and newly elected director of Western Union Telegraph Company, has a background somewhat similar to Mrs. Paul's. Here was a woman married to an engineering genius whose company needed more than anything else a strong business head. Here was a woman so interested in her husband's work, so eager for his success, that on her own she developed what he lacked, and made his success possible.

There probably was little to prevent Mary Roebling, now chairman of the Trenton Trust Company and governor of the American Stock Exchange, from relaxing as a housewife. But her devotion to her banker-husband led her to learn all that she could about his business and enabled her to step into his shoes when the time came.

More remarkable perhaps are the careers of women who did not pattern their lives after their families' but struck out upon their own. An example is Dorcas E. Campbell, late vice president of New York's East River Savings Bank.

Nationally known as the "first lady" among bankers, a social worker from Indiana, she rose to heights in the industry of thrift. Dorcas' tremendous capacity for humanizing the institutional, her gift for seeing beauty all about her and bringing it into the lives of those who might never have known the arts in all their forms, sparked her achievement. I can only hope that from the ranks of her profession someone will come forth to continue Dorcas' achievements She would have wanted this.

THE ALL-NEW Chrysler New Yorker four door hardtop offers more headroom and legroom. Its advanced styling is in the tradition of the Chrysler 300, with massive air-scoop front grille and a minimum of ornamentation. Chrysler New Yorker sedans feature all wool-broadcloth interiors at no extra cost. The Chryslers will be shown Friday. The new cars are described as completely new in styling, the quietest operating ever built and the roomiest inside since 1956.

Smucker Co. Seeks Stock Sale Okay

ORRVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Officers and directors of the J. M. Smucker Co., a leading producer of apple butter, preserves, jams and jellies, are asking Securities and Exchange Commission approval to sell 165,000 shares of their common stock holding to the public.

This will be the first public sale of common stock by Smucker Co., which was formed in 1897 and got its start with the founder, J. M. Smucker, peddling apple butter off the back of a farm wagon. His sons and grandson have continued in the business.

In addition to the main plant on a seven-acre site here, a smaller plant processes berries into juices at Oregon City, Ore. for shipment here. The firm employs about 325, and operates its own truck fleet. It formerly had a branch plant at Salem, Ohio.

Shares to be offered for sale total one-third of the outstanding common stock. The firm's net income for the year ended April 30 was $811,633 on sales of $11,357,776.

The move for new capital comes as the company is buying a 12-acre plant site in Salinas, Calif. to construct a $750,000 plant to serve its market west of the Rocky Mountains.

Joke Backfires on 4 Akron 16-Year-Olds

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Police are holding four 16-year-olds from Akron, Ohio, after the teenagers' joke backfired Monday.

The four, three boys and a girl, were nabbed by police after a truck driver said a firecracker was thrown from their car at him. A sign on the car read: "This car is stolen."

Detective Sgt. George Fulmer said the girl admitted stealing the car from an Akron parking lot and concealing the theft from the boys. The girl admitted cashing two small checks using credentials found in the car, he added.

One of the boys put the sign on the car, unknown to the girl, "for a joke." The four said they were driving around Akron Friday night and decided to go to Florida on Saturday.

The youths' names were not released. They are being held without charge. Akron police and their parents have been notified.

6,500 GM Workers Face Layoffs Today

DETROIT (AP) — Dwindling steel supplies continued to sap General Motors' auto production might today as 6,500 more workers faced layoffs at Chevrolet manufacturing plants.

Over 13,000 GM employes already had been sent home because of the steel shortage.

The company said 2,400 workers will be idled after today"s shifts and another 4,100 after Wednesday. The layoffs, at Flint, Mich., Chevrolet plants, affect six-cylinder and V-8 engine production and body stampings.

Chevrolet laid off 1,300 workers Monday at plants in Tonawanda, N.Y.; Livonia, Saginaw and Bay City, Mich. because of steel shortages.

Previous GM layoffs had affected mainly the Ternstedt Division plants at Trenton, N.J., Flint and Columbus, Ohio. Ternstedt makes trim and body hardware for passenger cars.

Production was to resume today at Chevrolet's Corvair plant at nearby Willow Run. Output at the smaller car plant was halted Monday as a result of inventory problems resulting from the steel strike.

None of the other auto firms has announced any layoffs resulting from lack of steel. Ford shut down its small car Falcon production at Lorain, Ohio and Kansas City Monday because of a shortage of stampings. A Ford spokesman said, however, that the stoppage was due to an internal company problem and not a result of the steel strike.

Ford manufactures about half its own steel and says the national strike so far has not seriously affected car production.

Chrysler—third member of auto's Big Three—said Monday it has been picking up speed on 1960 model production.

American Motors and Studebaker-Packard also report adequate steel supplies, at least for the time being.

There, Konstenius quoted him as saying, he lured Lila Lynn outside to his car, struck her with the bolt and strangled her with a rope.

The youth said he went to the sleeping father's bedroom. Eugene told Konstenius he covered the pistol with a pillow, but the hammer caught in the pillow case and the click awoke Frosland. The boy said he hid the gun.

The man and boy spoke for a few moments. Frosland turned to reach for a cigarette.

Eugene said he fired a bullet into the back of Frosland's head.

$350 In Cash, Articles Stolen at Airport

LISBON — About $350 in cash, appliances, and food was stolen by burglars who entered Kerner's Airport at Petersburg Sunday night or early Monday morning, Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan reports.

Entry was gained by removing the pins in a storm door. The thieves broke open three coin operated machines, taking an estimated $94 in silver plus $110 in cash from a box in the hanger. Two movie cameras valued at $100, an electric toaster and some bacon and hamburger were stolen from the restaurant.

The theft was reported Monday by John Kerner, the owner.

Fire Drills Come Off Smoothly In Schools

Fire Chief Clarence W. Wright had nothing but praise for the fire drills held recently in all Salem schools. He said the pupils maintained order and evacuated the buildings in "excellent" time.

Conditions at the schools are better than they have been in the past, he said, explaining that the Chicago school fire which killed almost 100 persons last year is still fresh in the public's mind.

Murder Suspect Slain by Policeman

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — A man who police said killed his estranged wife's stepfather was shot early today when he resisted arrest.

The man was killed by patrolman Richard Armitage. He was identified as William Simpson.

Simpson went by cab from Middletown to Franklin, where he sought admission to the home of his estranged wife's stepfather. When he was denied admission, he drew a gun and shot the stepfather, Ralph Lovejoy.

The cab driver did not know what had happened and took Simpson to several other places and eventually started back to Middletown.

Meanwhile, Middletown police, alerted to the shooting of Lovejoy, began watching for the cab. Armitage, a foot patrolman, spotted it and commandeered a car to give chase.

He followed the cab to a cafe where he ordered Simpson to get out. Simpson refused and Armitage pulled him out. In doing so, Simpson's hat fell off and when he started to pick it up Armitage said he saw Simpson reach for a rear pocket where he had the gun.

Armitage fired. Simpson also shot once and, in some manner, shot himself in the thumb. Armitage then fired again, hitting Simpson.

Simpson was pronounced dead on arrival at Middletown Hospital.

Dr. Garret Boone, Butler County coroner, ruled the shooting homicide as the result of police action.

Paper Says Veeck To Make Sox Offer

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Tribune said a syndicate headed by Bill Veeck will offer to buy Chuck Comiskey's 46 per cent of the Chicago White Sox today.

Comiskey reportedly met Monday with Arthur C. Allyn Jr., son of a Veeck syndicate member, and requested that any such offer be put in writing. The Tribune said Allyn, also in the syndicate, agreed.

Comiskey, the newspaper said, is in a mood to sell his share in the American League pennant winners.

Negotiations have been accelerated between Comiskey and the Veeck group, which acquired 54 per cent of the club last March in a $2,700,000 deal with Mrs. Dorothy Rigney, Comiskey's sister, since the end of the baseball season, the Tribune said.

Man Pleads Guilty to Traffic Manslaughter

Cash was charged with manslaughter in the traffic death of Elba Lovejoy, 51, of East Liverpool, who was killed in an auto accident April 25.

Cash had pleaded innocent at arraignment day Sept. 28, but changed his plea to guilty this morning and requested probation. His case was scheduled to begin this morning.

Warren Harding Creeping Up On Massillon In Grid Poll

Quakers Skid Out of Top 10

Springfield Rated Third In State

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Massillon clung to the top spot in The Associated Press' weekly high school football poll today, but Warren Harding's Panthers were creeping up. So were Springfield's Wildcats.

And Friday offers no picnic for Leo Strang's Stark County powerhouse, for Cleveland Benedictine's 1957 state champions will attempt to take the Tigers. Benedictine, after a 6-0 opening loss, handed previously unbeaten Cleveland John Adams an 18-0 setback Saturday for its third in a row.

Massillon dealt Steubenville's rugged Big Red a 28-6 defeat Friday, while runner-up Warren was tripping third-place Lorain 14-12. The loss dropped Lorain to fourth as Springfield moved into the vacated "show" berth with a 38-26 win over a much improved Middletown team.

Of the 44 writers in this week's poll, 13 named Massillon No. 1, a drop of one from last week. The Tigers also lost five poll points on the 10-9-8-etc. voting basis, while Warren gained 32. That left Massillon with a 330 to 258 edge, Springfield taking third with 188, a leap of 22 from a week ago.

Steubenville, beaten previously by Warren 13-8, dropped from the elite list after losing to Massillon. Salem, tied for tenth last week, also skidded out of the top ratings with a 14-0 loss to Ambridge, Pa.

That left the gate open for Toledo DeVilbiss, riding a wave of upstate votes, to move into sixth place, and Findlay into tenth, each with a 4-0 record.

Troy, locked in ninth, continued to place the top ten in scoring, with 220 points in four conquests while allowing only 13.

From here and there: Middletown's Billy Triick completed 21 of 43 passes for 420 yards against Springfield, but the Wildcats turned three interceptions into the touchdowns that won it. Springfield Catholic's 20-game winning streak was halted 6-2 by Cincinnati McNicholas.

Parma ran its string to 14 by beating Euclid 18-8. Warren's great Paul Warfield had been held to 42 yards in 14 carries until he broke loose for an 84-yard touchdown in the last five minutes to nose out Lorain. The losers were hampered by the loss in the second quarter of halfback Harold Jones, the team's top scorer who had been averaging nine yards per try, who suffered a knee injury.

Lorain Clearview, with a 12-game winning streak, is known as "Garibaldi's Raiders." The club is coached by Paul Amodio, former KentSt ate captain, whose aides are Geno Geoia, Bob Mosketti and Ralph Pisanelli.

Salem, in losing its first in four, fumbled four times—twice inside Ambridge's 10-yard line.

Coach Hal Paul of Steubenville, loser to first and second ranked Massillon and Warren, says "it's hard to say which is the better team. Warren has more speed, but Massillon is tougher up front."

Alliance's 1958 state champs lost both starting halfbacks, Lee Woolf and Tom Headley, on the tenth play in the 6-0 win over Akron St. Vincent. Charley King scored his eighth touchdown on a 76-yard run in heavy mud to notch the victory.

East Liverpool's quarterback, Bob Mackall, scored two touchdowns and passed for a third in the win over Bellaire St. John. He has nine six-pointers for four games.

Dover, with a 4-0 record, is off to its best start since 1951 when it won nine in a row before losing to arch-rival New Philadelphia. The latter school is one of the biggest surprises, in reverse, of the current campaign. A couple of years ago Coach Bill Kidd's kids didn't allow a touchdown until the last quarter of the last game, but this season they've lost four straight and are on the short end of a 154-8 scoring record.

Marietta, with only five winning seasons in the last 19, blasted Williamstown, W. Va., 64-28 for its fourth straight of the year and seventh over a two-season span.

Martins Ferry, in the doldrums the last few years, is on its way back. Coached by Hayden Buckley, former Ohio Wesleyan quarterback, the riders have won four in a row. In Friday's 9-0 nod over previously unbeaten St. Clairsville, big Charlie Mamula (6-3 and 210) booted his second field goal of the year, a 27-yarder. Lou Groza booted three field goals at Martins Ferry, but they were spread over three campaigns.

Pete Porietis of Marion Harding scored four touchdowns as the Prexies roared back from a 20-14 loss to Lorain, ending a 12-game win streak, to smother Dayton Roosevelt 40-0. Roosevelt threw 14 passes, completing only one for two yards.

Hamilton's famed "Bie Blue" is no more. The city's two high schools, Taft and Garfield, meet for the first time Friday. Garfield is 3-1 and Taft 0-4. Hamilton Catholic has won four straight, averaging 39 points to 3 for the foe.

Gary Crum, Cardington senior, ran his four-game point total to 92 as he scored on runs of 96, 60, 2 and 5 yards Friday in beating Richwood 47-6. Freshman Larry Coomer has 52 for Cardington after scoring on runs of 25 and 27 yards, and on a 30-yard toss from Crum. The two have scored all of Cardington's points this year.

Jerry Harbaugh has tossed 10 touchdown passes for Crestline. Preston Leedy of unbeaten Fredericktown (16 in a row) completed seven of nine passes for 145 yards and three touchdowns in the 30-14 win over New London.

You think football players are big? In the 8-8 tie between Gahanna and Westerville Friday night the referee's job fell to Paul Walker of Bexley because, at 48 years and 221 pounds he was the youngest and lightest of the whistle-tooters. His running (?) mates were Bus McMillen of Delaware, 53 and 245, and Bill Pullin of Worthington, 50 and 280.

HAND OFF — Bobby Franklin feeds the ball to eager George Blair and away goes one of three Mississippi left halfbacks for whom there is no set order. Louisiana State is the main objective of the Johnny Rebs in a big one in Baton Rouge, Oct. 31. Ole Miss has horses, too.

Pittsburgh Coach Hands Don Bishop Walking Papers

By The Associated Press

On Dec. 12, 1949, three days after the National Football League made peace with the All-America Conference, colorful Buddy Parker grabbed the headlines.

He quit as head coach of the Chicago Cardinals after they were beaten 52-21 in the final game of the season.

"The humilating defeat by George Halas and the Bears is causing me to tender this resignation—I consider the Cardinal personnel superior to that of the Bears so the loss must be a reflection on my coaching ability," said Parker.

That's not the way Don Bishop heard it Monday.

"Bishop has cost me two games, but he won't cost me a third," said Buddy Parker after firing Bishop, a sophomore defensive back with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Steelers were defeated 28-24 by the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday, their second straight loss after a season-opening victory.

Parker said Bishop, who has been serving as a replacement for injured regular Jack Butler, was not on the field when Eagle rookie Art Powell returned a punt 58 yards for a touchdown.

Parker said Bishop was on the sidelines getting a shoe taped and the kicking team had only 10 men on the field.

Parker, who guided the Detroit Lions to two NFL championships after leaving Chicago, quit Detroit suddenly just before the 1957 season. At a "Meet the Lions" banquiet he announced, "When you get to a situation where you can't handle football players, it's time to get out—and that's what I'm doing. I'm through with football in Detroit."

He took over the Steelers two weeks later and since has traded away many draft choices to build a veteran squad. Bishop, a 210-pounder from Los Angeles City College, was an exception—until Monday.

Ambridge Tilt Sends Salem's Defensive Statistics Into Dive

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

Salem's defensive statistics took a nosedive after the Quakers' 14-0 defeat at Ambridge, Pa., Friday.

The Pennsylvania eleven chalked up 13 first downs rushing, equaling the combined total of Salem's previous three opponents. Net yards gained rushing by opponents jumped from 265 to 511 yards.

The shutout Friday was the first time a Salem team had failed to score since the opening game of the 1955 season. It was the first time an Earle-Bruce-coached squad had been shut out.

Fullback Pete Schmauch widened his team ground-gaining lead with 81 yards against Ambridge. He now has a total of 499 yards for four games.

Halfback Fred Phillis still has the best average per carry. The co-captain has averaged nine yards for the 47 times he has run the ball.

Schmauch continued to be plagued by fumble miseries last week. His two bobbles at Ambridge ran his four-game total to five. The team as a whole has fumbled 12 times, losing the ball on nine of those occasions.

End Don Davidson's five pass receptions Friday shot him into the lead in that department. The junior has caught nine passes for 132 yards and two touchdowns.

Guard Fred Harshman retained his lead in tackles. Playing despite a bad ankle, the junior racked up four tackles Friday to run his season total to 18. Linebacker Ned Chappell jumped into the runner-up spot with a seven-tackle performance against Ambridge. The big co-captain is credited with 17 tackles in four games.

Grid Writers Protest Coach Hayes' Conduct

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Football Writers of Southern California are protesting the conduct of Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes after his team lost to Southern California here Oct. 2.

Paul Zimmerman, former national president of the Football Writers Assn., has directed that a letter of protest be sent to Wally Butts, Georgia coach and president of the Football Coaches Assn. of America.

Dick Shafer, doing a dressing room story for the Pasadena Independent, said Hayes struck him in the back. Al Bine, sports writer of the Los Angeles Examiner, said Hayes lunged at him but missed, the blow landing on Shafer. Both men said there was no provocation.

North Gallia High Placed on Probation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio High School Athletic Assn. has placed North Gallia High School on probation, ruled one of its players ineligible for a year, banned an assistant coach from its bench for the rest of the season, and warned that further infractions will mean the school's suspension from the association.

The North Gallia player grabbed an official during the Oct. 2 game with Kyger Creek. The penalties and warning were announced Monday by OHSAA Commissioner W. J. McDonnell.

Art Wall Selected PGA Golfer of Year

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Art Wall Jr., a 35-year-old exponent of the baseball grip, is the PGA professional golfer of the year for 1959.

Sid Gillman Asks Revision of Rule

LOS ANELES (AP) — Coach Sid Gillman of the Los Angeles Rams, says a revision is in order on football's fair catch rule.

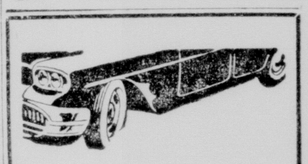

He told the Football Writers Assn. in a telephone interview Monday that he believes the Rams should have been credited with a touchdown in a controversial fair catch play in the 28-21 victory over the Chicago Bears Sunday.

The Rams thought Bear safetyman Johnny Morris signalled for a fair catch. Morris fumbled or dropped the ball and as the Rams rearranged their defense for the fair catch, Morris grabbed up the ball and raced 78 yards for a touchdown.

Officials ruled that Morris merely raised his hand to shade his eyes from the sun.

Said Gillman: "The movies show Morris signalled for a fair catch. His hand definitely was raised above his head, as the rule insists. The rule must be changed. Possibly the receiver should wave his hand from side to side over his head."

Leetonia to Meet Columbiana

E. Palestine Faces Austintown Fitch

East Palestine, perched in its accustomed seat atop the Tri-County League standings, will carry that loop's banner into battle against a Steel Valley Conference opponent, Austintown Fitch, Friday in the Bulldog city.

The Bulldogs got by their closest rival, Lisbon, last week with a surprising easy 20-0 victory. The loss knocked the Blue Devils from the ranks of the unbeaten and left East Palestine as the only undefeated Tri-County loop team.

Louisville, who has won three straight games since dropping its opener to Canton Glenwood, boasts a 2-0 league mark. The Leopards entertain Poland this week, a team that has broken even in four games.

Leetonia and Columbiana, a pair of long time rivals with only mediocre records this season, will get together at Leetonia. These teams usually play their best against each other and early season records mean little when this rivalry is renewed.

Lisbon should get back on the winning track when they host winless Sebring. The Trojans are still troubled by defensive woes, having given up 154 points in four straight losses.

Glen Sutherin's surprising Minerva Lions will play a non-league opponent, Carrollton, at home Friday. Minerva has dropped only one league game this year. It will have much to say about the eventual 1959 champion since it still has to face East Palestine and Louisville.

League and season records are as follows:

Fullmer to Make First Title Defense In Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) —The manager of Gene Fullmer, the National Boxing Assn.'s middleweight champion, said Monday night Fullmer will make his first title defense in Utah, probably in December.

Manager Marv Jenson said promoter Norman Rothschild of Syracuse, N. Y., was expected to arrive here today to inspect probable sites.

Jensen said Spider Webb, the man picked by the NBA to face Fullmer, may fly to Salt Lake City from Chicago later this week, if Rothschild decides on the site. Webb and his manager, Hector Knowles, will fly here to sign for the fight officially, Jenson said.

Fullmer holds a unanimous decision over Webb.

Sports Figures Pay Respects to Bell

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Sports leaders from all over America began arriving here today to pay their final respects to Bert Bell, the late commissioner of the National Football League.

Requiem mass will be celebrated at 11 a.m. Wednesday for Bell — a man whom, NFL owners, coaches and players say, cannot be fully replaced.

Bell will be buried in Calvary Cemetery near his Narberth, Pa., home. Honorary pallbearers will be NFL club owners.

The 65-year-old commissioner suffered a fatal heart attack Sunday at Franklin Field while watching the Eagles - Steelers game.

Commission to Reveal Decision on Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Athletic Commission is expected to announce its decision today in its lengthy investigation of the promotional aspects of the Ingemar Johansson-Floyd Patterson heavy weight title bout last June.

The commission already has suspended Patterson's manager, Cus d'Amato, for failure to appear at a hearing as requested; and suspended the promoter's licenses of Bill Rosensohn and Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc., now controlled by attorney Vincent Velella and Irving Kahn, president of Teleprompter, Inc.

Brown Plans No Changes

Cleveland to Face Cardinals Sunday

CLEVELAND (AP)—Coach Paul Brown isn't contemplating any changes despite two losses for the Cleveland Browns in their first three games in the National Football League race.

"We're going as we have been and will be trying to do everything just a little better," he said Monday.

"We have played good football in all three games. We haven't taken any bad beatings. Just little things here and there cost us two games."

The work of the defensive team in Sunday's loss to the New York Giants was a cheering note for Brown.

Jim Lee Howell, the New York coach, said "it was by far the best defensive effort we've encountered this season."

The Giants, with plenty of ground power, made only 156 yards rushing and their air offensive was held to 94 yards in beating the Browns, 10-6.

A different problem will face the defense next Sunday when the Chicago Cardinals pay a visit to Municipal Stadium. The Cardinals, held in check by a wet field at Chicago in their loss to the Browns Oct. 4, have a razzle-dazzle offense featuring spread formations and laterals.

Three Teams Dog Louisiana's Tail In AP College Grid Poll

By The Associated Press

Louisiana State pulled farther away from Northwestern today in the race for the season's college football honors but, looking back, saw not just one but three teams dogging its tail.

Close behind LSU and Northwestern, still 1-2 in the weekly Associated Press poll, came Texas and Georgia Tech, both making threatening gestures at the top position.

Also, while LSU drew 83 of the 139 votes cast by sports writers and broadcasters, the voting showed there was no clear-cut opinion on the No. 1 team. Eleven teams, the largest number in recent memory, shared first place nominations.

The poll pace-setters, who had only a 23-point bulge over Northwestern a week ago, went 217 ahead this week on the strength of their 27-3 rout of Miami (Fla.). Northwestern squeaked past Minnesota 6-0.

On the basis of 10 points for a first place vote, nine for second, etc., Louisiana State had 1,223 points compared with 1,006 for the runnerup team from the Big Ten. But both Texas and Georgia Tech showed growing strength.

Texas, which handed Oklahoma its second setback 19-12, took over third place from Georgia Tech, which dropped to fourth despite a 14-7 decision over tough Tennessee.

Syracuse and Penn State climbed into the upper bracket with impressive triumphs over the two Eastern service elevens. Syracuse walloped Navy 32-6 and Penn State upset Army 17-11.

Lisbon Man Hooks 'Largest' Fish In Canadian River

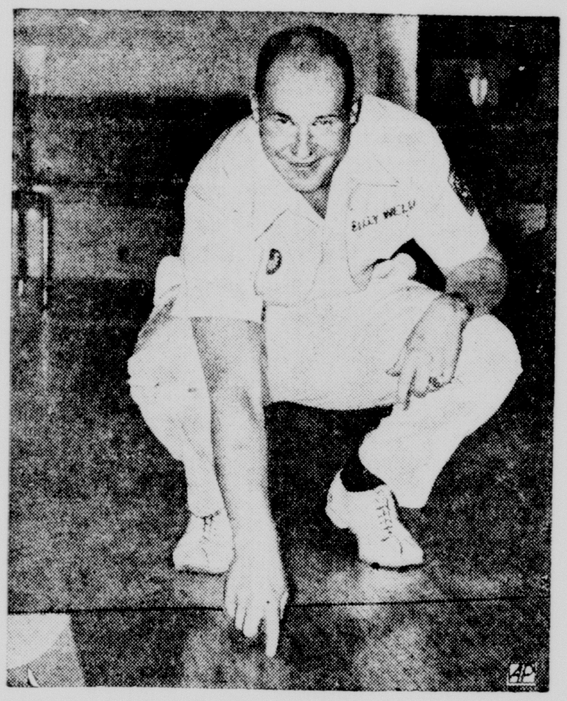

Francis Clunk of Lisbon has been credited with catching the largest fish ever caught with a hook and line in the French River in Ontario, Canada.

After a two and a half hour struggle, Clunk landed a 110-pound sturgeon which measured 5'4" long. The angler took his prize catch with a 12½-pound test line.

The game warden for the area said larger sturgeon had been taken from the river with nets but not with a hook and line.

Clunk is smoking his sturgeon and making caviar out of the 6½ pounds of eggs found in the fish.

He was accompanied on the fishing trip by Fred Filler of Salem and Ed Thomas, Bill and Mickey Moore, Bob and Jeff Dorrance and Dr. J. E. Jones, all of Lisbon. The party of eight arrived back in the county last week.

LINING UP THE TARGET — Billy Welu points to the spot where the imaginary line, which he draws from the 1-3 pin pocket to himself before delivery, crosses the foul line.

Guide To Good Bowling--2

Sharp Bowler Lines Up His Target Before Delivering Ball

By BILLY WELU

When I go into my stance and get ready to roll the ball toward the pins I concentrate on one particular spot. Most bowlers either glue their eyes on the 1-3 pocket during their entire delivery or fix their gaze on a board or range-finder about 15 feet out from the foul line until the ball is rolled over that spot.

I use a combination of both these methods with my own variations thrown in for good measure.

While I'm going through my preliminary motions of getting the ball set "just right" in my hand, I take a bead on that 1-3 pocket. I then draw an imaginary line from the pocket back down the lanes to where I am standing on the approach. Then I usually pick a spot at a point 15 feet beyond the foul line and generally in line with the second arrow on the right. While I still have that line drawn, in my mind's eye, I go into my delivery. For added insurance as a control factor, I concentrate on finishing my right arm out toward my spot.

I try to roll my ball directly over that line. When I do, I get a strike more times than not. This method is called "line" or "area" bowling and took me about 10 years to perfect so that I can use it effectively all the time.

As a youngster, I started by "pin" bowling, next went to "spot" bowling as I advanced in the game, and now use the "line" with the pins and the spot on the lanes as double check-points.

TOMORROW: The delivery.

Colt Manager Suggested as Bell Successor

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Carroll Rosenbloom, majority owner of the Baltimore Colt, said today that his general manager, Don Kellett, "would be the best man for the job of National Football League commissioner if none of the older statesmen is available."

Rosenbloom said that by older statesmen he meant veterans of the league such as George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears, and George Preston Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins.

Both Halas and Marshall have said they don't want the job.

It was pointed out to Rosenbloom that by process of elimination this possibly would make Kellett, 50, a frontrunner among several others for the post vacated Sunday by the sudden death of Bert Bell.

Rosenbloom said only: "He (Kellett) is a good man and would do a fine job. He's well-equipped and I wouldn't want to lose him but I'll do what's best for the league. Personally would like to see the post go to a young man like Kellett."

In Baltimore Kellett said he considered it "a great honor" to be mentioned for the post.

Bucks to Face Boilermakers

Hayes Predicts Good Game by Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Woody Hayes figures his Buckeyes, who haven't scored a point in the last two contests, can "make a good game of it against Purdue Saturday."

So he told his weekly press luncheon guests Monday, although admitting the Boilermakers are potentially tougher than the Illinois squad which beat him 9-0 last Saturday.

The Buck mentor said: "We played better than we did against Southern California (Ohio lost 17-0) and if we can show the same improvement this week we'll be a fairly good Big Ten team."

The Boilermakers have 21 Ohioans, and only five Hoosiers, on their 66-man squad. At least nine of the Buckeye products will see action. Bernie Allen, 20-year-old East Liverpool junior, will be at quarterback. He tossed three touchdown passes to beat Wisconsin 21-0 last week, and has booted seven extra points without a miss.

Bob Jarus of Parma, the regular fullback, is out with injuries, but tackle Jerry Beabout of Mansfield, guard Fred Brandel of Hamilton, and Allen remain on the first team.

The second string, which plays half of each quarter under Coach Jack Mollenkopf's platoon system, has quarterback Wayne Jones of Carrollton, halfback Jim Tiller of Fremont, guards Stan Sczurek of Cleveland and Pat Russ of Cincinnati, and fullback Dave Hoehnen of Mayfield Heights.

Hayes is still shuffling his lineup. Ernie Wright has been shifted from left to right tackle, with Dick Michael moving into the vacated spot, while both Lynn Strait and Terry Handsley have ousted Bob Ferguson from the No. 1 left halfback spot and are fighting for the job. Jene Watkins, first-string center last week, has dropped to third with Richard Anders getting the starting call and Jim Lindner the second team berth.

Purdue has a scoreless tie with UCLA, a 28-7 win over Notre Dame and a 21-0 victory over Wisconsin to its credit, while Ohio nosed out Duke 14-13, and lost to Southern Cal and Illinois. In three-game statistics the Boilermakers have a huge edge.

REDS BUY STENHOUSE

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds today bought Dave Stenhouse, 26, a graduate engineer and righthand pitcher, from their Seattle farm team of the Pacific Coast League.

Stenhouse, graduate of the University of Rhode Island, won 12 games and lost 13 for seventh-place Seattle this year. The six-foot, 190-pounder pitched 200 innings, allowed 63 earned runs, walked 74 men and fanned 18.

Homecoming Game Set at Goshen

Canfield to Invade McDonald Friday

Canfield and McDonald, the two clubs tied for second place in the Inter-County League with 3-0 records, will battle it out at McDonald Friday to determine which one drops back with the also-rans and which remains to challenge Lowellville for the loop lead.

Lowellville has won four straight league games. When they defeated Greenford 16-8 last week they got by the team on their schedule which was rated the best chance of knocking them off.

The Rockets face winless Jackson-Milton at home Saturday. If they handle McDonald the following week, they should have clear sailing to at least a share of the league title. Canfield and Lowellville are not scheduled to meet this season.

The Cardinals, defending champions, also appear to be headed for another undefeated season. McDonald, although 3-0 in the league, has a 38-6 drubbing on its record at the hands of Columbiana of the Tri-County League.

In other games Saturday, it will be homecoming Day for Goshen Union when it takes on North Lima at Sebring. The Gophers are still looking for their first victory. The Zippers have two victories to go with a loss and a tie.

Greenford should get back on the winning track at Springfield Local but Western Reserve appears headed for its fifth consecutive setback at United in a non-league affair.

HERE'S WHAT MAKES the CORVAIR REVOLUTIONARY

Short and sweet! Engine's in the rear—where it belongs in a compact car. With more weight on rear wheels, you get extra road-gripping traction for cornering and driving on ice, mud or snow. Also, by avoiding nose-heaviness of front-engine compact cars, Corvair handles easier, brakes better, rides smoother. Styling of both 4-door models is clean and uncluttered . . . as fresh and functional as modern architecture.

AIR COOLED
You never have to fuss with antifreeze. Turbo-Air 6 warms up quicker, with less wear on parts. Airplane-type heater* goes to work almost instantly.
*Optional at extra cost.

Revolutionary Rear Engine
works small miracles with mileage. It's the world's first production 6 with the ultra-smooth power of horizontally opposed pistons.

Unipack Power Team
Engine, transmission and drive gears are neatly wrapped in one lightweight package. Takes less space, leaves you more.

UNISTRUT BODY BY FISHER
Body and frame are combined into a single rigidly constructed unit that reduces Corvair's weight, enlarges its passenger space.

Practically FLAT FLOOR
Corvair is America's only compact car with a virtually flat floor that gives you full 6-passenger comfort. For extra space, folding rear seat* converts easily to make room for 17.6 cu. ft. of cargo. *Optional at extra cost.

TRUNK'S UP FRONT

NEARLY 3 FEET SHORTER
Corvair's almost 5 inches lower, 1,300 pounds lighter, too. Its compact size makes it a joy to jockey through traffic, a pleasure to park. No need for power assists.

4-Wheel Independent Suspension
Springs at each wheel cushion bumps independently of each other for a ride that rivals much costlier cars.

FOOTBALL by Red Grange

Written for NEA Service

Question: May a college player enter the game more than twice in the same quarter? — Clarence Bateman.

Answer: Yes. Under the 1959 rule changes one player from each team may enter the game at any time while the clock is stopped and not be charged with having been a substitute. This change liberalizes substitutions to such a degree that specialists such as kickers and passers can be put in at any crucial time even though their eligibility would otherwise be used up.

Q. What kind of helmets did football players use during the 1920's? How was the head protected? — John G. Kirchner, Jr.

A — Helmets were of fairly pliable leather lined with felt. Although their use was not compulsory, they were worn by 90 per cent of the players. They afforded some protection, but not nearly as much as the modern plastic helmet with synthetic padding and suspension harness.

Q — Michigan State has been noted for its multiple offense. Despite this, they tell me that Duffy Daugherty added something to it this fall. What was it? — Floyd Stark.

A — The double wing was installed, running from an unbalanced line with the quarterback in the T post back of the center rather than in a deep position.

Wilmington College Faces Impasse on Presidential Post

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—G. Richard Gottschalk says he's the president of Wilmington College.

The Quaker group that owns and operates the college says it won't approve Gottschalk as president.

And the college trustees, caught in the middle after naming Gottschalk president last spring, have not yet commented on the impasse.

Gottschalk, a Dayton native who became a successful businessman in central New York, returned to the Wilmington campus Monday from his Syracuse, N. Y., home.

He said, "I'm the president of Wilmington College and have been since Oct. 1, until the board of trustees of the college notify me to the contrary."

The Wilmington Yearly Meeting operates the college. The group's permanent board last week agreed on a resolution saying that Gottschalk's business background, though good, is "not of the image we feel imperative in such a presidency."

The board also said earlier: "It is predominately through the vision, strength and wisdom of the president that the college can succeed in the advancement and preservation of characteristic teachings of the Religious Society of Friends."

The board asked trustees to confer soon on filling the presidency.

Gottschalk, who is not a Quaker, had said he wants to take over the Wilmington post full time next Jan. 1. Until then, he said he plans to visit the campus weekly for conferences.

He operates a management consultant firm and several manufacturing and business concerns in central New York.

Gottschalk is also head of the Syracuse Board of Education and a member of several private advisory groups on education.

NEW LINCOLN — A striking profile for the 1960 Lincoln is the result of a completely redesigned roof which gives the car a more formal look. The different shaped rear window has 177 additional square inches of glass area for improved rearward visibility. Inside, the instrument panel has been completely restyled to give the car a precision look. A smoother ride and greater handling ease are the result of a new Hotchkiss rear suspension with leaf springs. In addition to the Lincoln four-door landau (shown above) there is a two-door hardtop and a four-door sedan in the Lincoln and Premiere series.

Homesteaders Need More Than Muscle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A young man wanting to homestead in Alaska needs more than muscles, sinew, an axe and the pioneer spirit, says the Rt. Rev. William T. Gordon Jr., Episcopal bishop of Alaska.

He also needs about $10,000.

The bishop said th emuch publicied Michigan '59er caravan is regarded in Alaska as a prime example of inadequate planning. He added that the original objective of the caravan failed, some returned, and some found jobs elsewhere but "those who stayed have been undergoing hardships that none ever contemplated."

GIRL SHOT HARD WAY

A porcupine fell out of a tree, scaring her horse, the horse reared, throwing her, she dropped her rifle, the horse stepped on it, and the rifle shot her in the leg.
